SUMMARY

Hello! I'm a junior frontend developer actively honing my skills. I have completed various courses and self-studied to deepen my knowledge. My passion for creating user interfaces and developing efficient web applications has led me into the world of front-end development. I strive for constant growth, continuously learning new technologies, and aiming to become a seasoned professional in this field. I believe that with diligence, dedication, and perseverance, I can achieve any goals I set for myself.
